Accordingly, the principal of the college immediately gave the responsibility of organizing the said program to two faculty of the college. Under the guidance of Prof. Dr. Ashutosh Patil, Prof. Dr. Kishore Pawar and Principal Prof. Dr. Vishnu Gunjal, a proposal for the workshop online was sent to the university. The university approved the proposal. Kavayitri Bahinabai Chaudhari North Maharashtra University, Jalgaon and Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Social Work College Morane, Dhule jointly organized One-day Tribal Community Development Program under Pradhan Mantri Uchchatar Shiksha Abhiyan(PM-USHA), Higher Education Ministry, Government of India (PM-Usha) was held on 10th October 2024.

At the beginning of the program, a heartfelt tribute to industrialist and former chairman of Tata Sons, Mr. Ratan Tata. Following this, tributes were offered to Birsa Munda and Dr. B.R. Ambedkar by the dignitaries present. All the esteemed guests were welcomed with an Tribal welcome song.

The introduction to the program was presented by Prof. Dr. Raghunath Mahajan. In his introduction, he mentioned that today's one-day workshop has been approved for our college under the PM- Usha scheme at the Kavayitri Bahinabai Chowdhary North Maharashtra University. Our area is predominantly tribal. The education level of tribal students has increased, and this program has been planned with the aim of enhancing their skills and fostering entrepreneurship. Details regarding the sessions throughout the day were provided.

The workshop was inaugurated by Hon. Chaitram Pawar. He stated that "The lesson from the saints is that we are one with nature." Referring to Indian culture, he emphasized that we live in a nature-worshipping society. There is unity in our diversity, with nature worship permeating our traditions. Reverence for trees, nurturing and protecting them, treating them as divine, honoring animals, and using plants medicinally is an age-old practice in our Indian culture. The tribal community has always protected these forests, providing service and continuing to do so. He asserted that the tribal community plays a crucial role in sustainable development by consistently being at the forefront of environmental protection.

The chief guest, Dr. Shivaji Patil (Management Council Member - KBC North Maharashtra University, Jalgaon), discussed the PM Higher Education Campaign, Government of India (PM-Usha), which has allocated fifty crores to the Kavayitri Bahinabai Chaudhari North Maharashtra University. Programs will be conducted for the welfare of some students, and the workshop will have substantial expenses aimed at creating awareness among students, ultimately focusing not just on individual welfare but on societal welfare as well. He mentioned that extensive studies and research are essential for addressing the economic, educational, cultural, and social conditions of the tribal communities.

Dr. Shailesh Patel (Assistant Project Officer, Dhule) noted that the Tribal Development Department works towards the upliftment of tribal society. Community benefits are provided to tribes. The department is committed to enhancing educational development within the tribal community and is focusing on water, forests, land, and sustainable development for them.

The chairperson, Dr. Vishnu Gunjal (Principal, Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar College of Social Work, Dhule), began his address with the slogan "Victory to the Tribal Community!" He highlighted that today's workshop is very important for all students, and our college has received approval from the university to conduct a workshop on tribal development. All students should take full advantage of this workshop. They should learn how they can contribute not just to their development but to the development of society through the information provided by experienced guides during the workshop. Questions should be raised regarding what tribes are, what their problems are, what can be done for their welfare, how to preserve tribal culture, and what can be done about their basic needs, along with their traditional customs—this was the challenge posed by Principal Dr. Vishnu Gunjal through this workshop.

The inaugural session was moderated by Prof. Dr. Preeti Wahane. Thanks were expressed by the coordinator of the workshop, Prof. Dr. Dileep Ghongde.

Session 1 :

In the first session, Mr. Chaitram Pawar (social worker, Baripada) provided guidance on "Ideal Village Baripada and Tribal Community Development." He mentioned that the village's condition was dire before 1992. Rainfed agriculture was only sufficient for subsistence. Villagers had to travel four miles to fetch water. When the monsoon was over, people would leave for labor in nearby villages. The level of malnutrition was high, with half the village below the poverty line. To cultivate a second crop, it had to be done on ten to twelve acres. Those who went out for education never settled back in the village. The village's agriculture was not well developed. Due to a lack of employment, addiction was on the rise. Work began according to the management plan of the five 'J's: Water, Land, Forest, Animals, Community. A ban on timber cutting and grazing was implemented in the village forest. Fines were imposed on those involved in deforestation and illegal timber transport. Villagers initiated a tree-planting campaign. Barren lands under the forest department were converted into forested areas. They planted one lakh saplings; three hundred and forty-five varieties of plants were introduced. Those saplings have transformed into trees, creating a forest. The villagers dug trenches at their own expense. Under government assistance, 'pond cement dams' were constructed. Forty community wells were established for one hundred eight families. Women's savings groups have been formed. These 'savings groups' focus not only on savings but also on education, general health and cleanliness, family planning, adult literacy, nutritious diets, and employment awareness. Women's participation is significant in household chores, agricultural work, and financial transactions, evident in gram sabha meetings. Three students have come to Baripada for their PhDs. An annual 'Forest Vegetable Festival' is organized in Baripada.

The art of living for tribals is noteworthy. The Governor is set to establish a separate Tribal University for the study of tribals. Tribal customs and traditions are distinct, with unique marriage practices and festivals celebrating wild vegetables. Celebrations of traditional stick festivals are also famous. Water, forest, and land are worshipped by tribals. There are 110 types of wild vegetables. Details about various initiatives undertaken in Baripada village were shared. Mr. Chaitram Pawar expressed the need to develop the potential of tribal youth and to foster initiatives at the village level. Questions from students were addressed.

The first session was moderated and concluded with thanks by Prof. Dr. Gopal Nimbalkar.

Session 2 :

In the second session, Ms. Ishita Chavan (Aga Khan Rural Support Programme, India) and Mr. Trilok Gupta (Aga Khan Rural Support Programme, India) provided guidance on "Tribal Livelihoods." Ms. Ishita Chavan spoke about the tribal communities in Maharashtra, including Kokni, Bhil, Mavchi, and Pawaras. Tribal people engage in agriculture, but it does not yield sufficient income. There is a high rate of illiteracy among tribals. They depend on forests for their livelihood. Due to a lack of local employment opportunities, tribals often migrate. Bamboo cultivation can provide livelihood, yet they face several challenges, including geographical and cultural hurdles. It is essential to know who is devising plans for tribals. Those articulating tribal issues should be in governance. The role of NGOs is crucial for tribal development, as emphasized by Ms. Ishita Chavan.

Mr. Trilok Gupta shared the work of the Aga Khan Foundation, which is involved in developmental initiatives in various sectors including livelihoods, health, and education. The foundation has begun work in the Dhule district of Maharashtra, especially in Pimpalner. The organization is undertaking various projects for the livelihood of tribals in the Sakri taluka. It aims to empower farmers to adopt green energy for agricultural purposes, particularly irrigation. Solar energy and biogas hold great potential for energy security for smallholders in rural areas. Livestock development is crucial for many extremely vulnerable families in rural areas. The foundation has transformed the lives of three lakh families and also works with children. Savings groups are a tool for empowerment. There are two types of livelihoods: agriculture-based and non-agriculture-based. This was the guidance shared by Mr. Trilok Gupta.

The session was moderated and concluded with thanks by Prof. Dr. Pramod Bhumbe.

Session 3 :

In the third session, Dr. Vaibhav Sabnis (Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Memorial Law College, Dhule) provided guidance on "Life Skills." He highlighted the rapid changes happening in social, political, economic, and cultural contexts. These changes have left students confused. Under the heavy expectations of parents and teachers, students often feel overwhelmed, hindering their ability to understand themselves. The ultimate goal of education is to foster the overall development of individuals. By maximizing mental capabilities, education can become more life-centered, facilitating personal development among students. Personal development is closely linked to character building. To shape character effectively, significant life skills are essential. Therefore, the development of life skills through education is crucial. Skills such as self-awareness, empathy, problem-solving, decision-making, effective communication, interpersonal relationships, creative thinking, critical thinking, emotional regulation, and stress management were conveyed to students through examples, including various songs and folk tales.

In today's world, when someone faces adversity or lacks patience, they may resort to fighting, assault, murder, or even suicide. However, cultivating patience allows individuals to search for the root causes of stress and understand its physical, mental, familial, and social impacts. This skill empowers people to navigate life even in chaotic times. According to Dr. Vaibhav Sabnis, it is vital for everyone to possess the life skills that provide the energy to lead living with dignity, beyond just culture, values, and humanity.

The session was moderated and concluded with thanks by Prof. Meghavi Meshram.

Session 4 :

In the fourth session, Dr. Mohan Pawara (former management council member - KBCNMU, Jalgaon) provided guidance on "Social-Economic Issues of Tribals." Dr. Mohan Pawara stated that we have come from various social, economic, and educational problems. We are all part of the tribal society or families. Thus, the real issue is malnutrition. It is essential to reach out to the tribal community to reduce malnutrition levels. Understanding tribals' social and economic issues is crucial. While reading history, figures like Birsa Munda, Rajoji Bhamare, revolutionary Khajya Naik, Tanyia Bhil, and Rani Durgavati show the sacrifices made. Even though tribals contributed to the freedom struggle, they have not been acknowledged in history books. This is a real issue for tribals. Khajya Naik, who served in the British army between 1831 and 1851, was sentenced to ten years in prison. After his release, he collected around two thousand people in tribal villages and revolted against the British, yet his name is absent from history. This is a significant problem. The Sardar Sarovar project displaced tribals from their lands and constructed dams in the name of development, but they received no drinking water, electricity, or benefits from the project. A statue of Sardar Vallabhbhai Patel was erected, displacing tribal communities without offering them jobs, which could have brought them into the development flow.

Dr. Mohan Pawara, through various historical and present examples, discussed how tribals are kept away from the development flow. They are displaced in the name of development, while large industries are constructed on their lands, excluding them from the benefits. It is imperative to include tribals in the developmental processes, as stated by Dr. Mohan Pawara.

The session was moderated and concluded with thanks by Prof. Dr. Sudam Rathod.

Closing Session:

The chairman of the closing session was the principal of the college, Prof. Dr. Vishnu Gunjal. The chief guest was Hon. Dr. Mohan Pawara (former member of the management council - KBCNMU, Jalgaon).

During the closing session, the coordinator of the workshop, Prof. Dr. Dilip Ghongade, presented a report on the day's programs. Following this, participants who attended the workshop expressed their views. Manish Raut, a student from Pandit Jawaharlal Nehru Social Work College, Amalner, Jalgaon district, and Pratiksha Kharde, a student from Zulal Bhilaji Patil College, Dhule, shared their thoughts on the organization of the workshop. Certificates were awarded to the participating students by dignitaries in a representative manner.

Hon. Dr. Mohan Pawara (former member of the management council - KBCNMU Jalgaon) attended as the chief guest of the closing session. He remarked that tribal history is not reflected in the pages of history. There is no mention of the Raowla Pani massacre in history. The British fired on tribals in the river at Raowla Pani. Many tribal people were killed. The Jallianwala Bagh massacre is noted in history, but the Raowla Pani massacre is not. He advised not to rebel but to become informed citizens.

The chairperson of the closing program, Hon. Dr. Vishnu Gunjal (Principal, Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Social Work College, Dhule) provided guidance. He stated that there are reasons why tribal history is not present in the history books. It's essential to study what those reasons are. By using various references and gathering information, we can write and publish books to present tribal history to the world. It is vital to make sincere efforts to resolve the issues faced by tribal communities. Various skills should be cultivated among students, and these skills should be utilized by them. History should be understood, deficiencies identified, and a revised history presented.

Prof. Dr. Farida Khan managed the closing session and expressed gratitude.

The workshop was organized by Prof. Dr. Raghunath Mahajan and Prof. Dr. Dilip Ghongade. Support was provided by Prof. Dr. Farida Khan, Prof. Dr. Gopal Nimbalkar, Prof. Dr. Preeti Vahane, Prof. Dr. Meghavi Meshram, Prof. Dr. Sudam Rathod, and all teaching and non-teaching staff from the college. A total of 100 tribal students and professors from Jalgaon, Nandurbar, and Dhule districts participated in the workshop.

4. Constitution Awareness Campaign Program :

Samata Shikshan Sanstha, Pune's Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar College of Social Work, Morane, Dhule in collaboration with the Constitution Awareness Campaign, Pune organized a Constitution Awareness Campaign program at Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar College of Social Work, Morane, Dhule, on 11/02/2025 through online medium. The program was chaired by Dr. Jalindar Adsule (Secretary of Samata Shikshan Sanstha, Pune) The chief guests were Mr. Rishel Anand Hina (coordinator- Constitution Awareness Campaign, Maharashtra) and Mr. Anand Paikrao from Pune. The principal of the college, Dr. Vishnu Gunjal, was also prominently present. The program began with an introductory speech by the college principal, Dr. Vishnu Gunjal, who stated that the college regularly conducts awareness programs regarding the Constitution. Every year, Constitution Week is observed. The social work curriculum includes the Constitution as a subject. Constitution awareness programs are conducted through various means such as fieldwork in different villages, street plays, and lectures. Numerous initiatives and programs are carried out by the college to raise awareness about the Indian Constitution among society and students.

Guidance of Mr. Rishel Anand Hina:

Chief guidance Mr. Rishel Anand Hina, during his guidance, explained that the thoughts of saints in our country emphasized equality. Saints like Gadge Maharaj and Sant Tukaram advocated for equality in society. Justice should be accessible to everyone. The values of the Indian Constitution are rooted in Indian soil. These values were evident during the freedom struggle. Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj established his kingdom respecting women and working alongside all eighteen castes. His administration included Muslims as well, treating everyone equally. Before independence, caste systems were strong in India, and there were religious differences. The British created Hindu-Muslim tensions. The country has developed from scratch. Unity in diversity is a key principle of the Constitution. Despite differences in culture, language, cuisine, attire, festivals, and celebrations, our country remains united because of this unity in diversity. "Victory to Mother India" means victory for even the poorest people of the country. All individuals are equal; the victory of all Indian people is the victory of Mother India, as stated by Pandit Nehru. Every person here represents Mother India. The people make Mother India. Victory means the success of all; no one will be left behind. The inspiration of the Indian Constitution is that everyone living in this country will succeed. The Constitution contains various rules. It is a guide for living life. This guidance was imparted by Mr. Rishel Anand Hina.

Mr. Satish Paikrao, while guiding, said that the objective of the Constitution Awareness Campaign is to spread knowledge about the Constitution to as many people as possible. Information about the Constitution has been provided by visiting every household. The campaign informs women, men, children, workers, farmers, minorities, and marginalized communities about what the Constitution grants them. He shared details of various initiatives. At the beginning of the workshop, an inauguration was held and the guide was introduced.

Fire safety is an important aspect of home and workplace safety. A fire can break out anywhere and at any time because of unexpected causes such as a power overload, a short circuit, a kitchen accident or a lightning strike.

In the event of a fire, it is the responsibility of every individual to stay safe

Fire safety experts suggest you take the following steps to remain safe in a fire:

If you are the first to encounter the fire

1. Don't panic and call 995 for the SCDF.
2. Alert others about the fire and get everyone out.
3. If possible, close the door and shut the windows of the room where the fire is located to contain it. This ensures that the fire has a limited supply of fuel, heat and oxygen – essential components that keep a fire burning.
4. Turn off the gas mains (if you can reach it).
5. Get a fire extinguisher and try to put out the fire (if you can) but only do so without endangering yourself or others. To escape through smoke, stay as low as you can, face down and crawl on your hands and knees. Avoid moving through the centre of the room and stay close to the walls.
6. When escaping, always use the stairs and head to ground level. If there is smoke in the stairwell, stay put. Don't go higher.

If you are trapped by the fire and cannot leave the building

1. Enter a safe room, preferably one with a window that overlooks a road.
2. Shut the door behind you but don't lock it. Cover the bottom gap of the door with a blanket or rug to prevent smoke from seeping through.

3. If you have access to a phone, call 995 and inform the operator of your location, what is on fire and if there are others trapped with you.
4. If you do not have access to a phone, shout for help from the window. Never attempt to climb out or jump out of the building. Wait patiently until help comes.

Basic fire prevention tips

Knowing how to react in a fire can help safeguard your life and those of your loved ones. But preventing the outbreak of a fire is your best protection. Here are some ways to eliminate fire hazards:

1. Switch off all appliances and electrical outlets when not in use or before leaving your home.
2. In the office, shut down your computer and turn off the power switch when you're leaving for the day.
3. Do not overload electrical outlets.
4. Install smoke detectors in your home to alert you to the presence of smoke.
5. Do not overcharge your mobile devices such as hand phones and tablets by leaving them to charge overnight.
6. Never store combustible items/materials near heat sources.
7. Check for broken wires and exposed wiring and if you find any replace them.
8. Properly extinguish cigarette butts before throwing them into the rubbish chute.
9. Keep matches and lighters safely stowed away from children.
10. Keep a 1-kg dry powder fire extinguisher in your bedroom in case of emergency.
11. Purchase a smoke escape mask that can protect you from toxic smoke for up to 20 min.

Ramai Poli Bhaji Kendra

Ramai Poli Bhaji Kendra is seen as a commendable initiative to be run by the college under the guidance of Samata Shikshan Sanstha in the academic year 2024-25, which will be helpful for fair assessment. Therefore, the said center was started after completing all the procedures from August 2024. In this, a total of twenty-five students were selected as per the criteria set by the college and the said center was started. However, since the criteria of Ramai Poli Bhaji Kendra were not changed and 80 to 95 percent of the BSW and MSW students admitted to the college are beneficiaries of various schemes, including those living in government hostels, beneficiaries of Swadhar Yojana, beneficiaries of Earn and Learn Scheme, scholarship holders who did not meet the criteria and the required number could not be met, the said center was started in the months of August, September, October, December and January. But due to the lack of student numbers and the low number of caterers providing meals, the said center had to be closed in January 2025.

Earlier, the said center was providing meals to the beneficiary students for Rs. 05, but this academic year, the student share was fixed at Rs. 10 instead of Rs. 05, due to which the number of students also decreased. Also, since most of the students admitted to the college were in some scheme or the other, the benefit of the said Ramai Poli Bhaji Center could not be provided.

During these academic years, Rs. 4560/- was deposited in the college as student share.

Farmer Guidance Workshop

Department of Lifelong Education and Extension, KBCNUM, Jalgaon and Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar College of Social Work, Morane, Dhule has jointly organised a One day Farmer Guidance workshop was organized on 06th February 2025 at Udane Village, Dhule. The Chairmen was Principal Dr. Vishnu Gunjal and the Chief Guests were Hon. Shri. Jagdish Kathepuri (Scientists, Agricultural Science Center), Hon. Shri. Dr. Atish Patil (Scientists, Agricultural Science Center), Hon. Dr. Dhanraj Chaudhary (Scientists, Agricultural Science Center), and Hon. Shri. Rohit Kadu (Scientists, Agricultural Science Center) as well as Hon. Shri. Popat Sahadu Patil (Vice Chairman, Purchase and Sale Society, Dhule), Hon. Shri. Naval Patil (Public Relations Officer, Jawahar Medical College). Most of the farmers of Udane village were present. Prof. Meghavee Meshram (Lifelong Learning Cell) worked as the Coordinator of the program, and Dr. Raghunath Mahajan, Dr. Sanjeev Pagare, Dr. Gopal Nimbalkar and Dr. Pramod Bhumbe worked hard for the success of the program.

Inaugural Session:

The inauguration of the Farmer Guidance Workshop was done by the program chairman Dr. Vishnu Gunjal and the chief guest Hon. Shri. Jagdish Kathepuri by garlanding the photo of the Father of the Nation Mahatma Gandhi. After that, welcomed the guests with bouquet and flowers. Dr. Gopal Nimbalkar present the Theme and objectives of the workshop.

Hon. Jagdish Kathepuri said that as the world is turning towards modernity, farmers should use modern technology. For this, farmer guidance workshop should be organized in every village like today and awareness should be created among the farmers. Speaking further, he said that Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar Social Work College should be congratulated for organizing this workshop. This college not only provides education but also works with social awareness, as can be seen from the organization of this workshop.

The principal of the college, Dr. Vishnu Gunjal, explained the objective of the workshop to the farmers. He said that this workshop has been organized to disseminate information about modern agriculture among the farmers through this gathering. Farmers should take advantage of it. The program was moderated by Prof. Meghavee Meshram and the vote of thanks was given by Dr. Raghunath Mahajan.

First Session:

Topic: Integrated Cotton Production Technique

Hon. Shri. Jagdish Kathepuri (Scientist, Krishi Vigyan Kendra, Dhule)

In the first session of the workshop, Hon. Jagdish Kathepuri addressed the farmers on the topic of Integrated Cotton Production Techniques. He said that cotton production has decreased this year. The main reason for this is that it has always rained. Therefore, the cotton crop did not get the stress of the summer that it should have. Due to this, the cotton crop was less. This year, new technology should be used while harvesting the cotton crop. The temperature is high in our area. Cotton should not be planted early. Because the plants that have grown up get loose due to the high temperature. Therefore, cotton should be planted in the month of June. While planting cotton, it should be done in 1 x 3 patterns. So that, the crops get proper space to grow. The number of cotton bolls increases and the weight of the crops are also good. What kind of feed should be given to the crops, when to spray? He also gave guidance on this. He said that farmers spray immediately when they see a caterpillar. Instead of doing that, they should observe it beforehand. Spray only if a caterpillar is seen at each place. Otherwise, the cotton crop may be adversely affected and the chances of the crop being reduced increase.

Second Session:

Topic: Organic Farming

Hon. Dr. Atish Patil (Scientist, Krishi Vigyan Kendra, Dhule)

Dr. Atish Patil guided the farmers on the importance of organic farming. Speaking further, he said that currently farmers are trying to get more income by using chemical fertilizers in large quantities. But, chemical fertilizers have far-reaching effects on the land. The texture of agriculture decreases. Over time, the productive capacity of the land decreases. Just as a person needs energy to work, so a person needs to eat at least two meals. Crops need energy to get income from agriculture. That energy will not be obtained only from chemical fertilizers. Because bacteria are necessary in the soil to provide chemical fertilizers to crops, only then the fertilizer reaches the crop. However, the food of those bacteria is organic matter. If organic fertilizers are not added to the soil, other fertilizers will not be available to the crops. Farmers should therefore add organic matter to the soil. Due to the decrease in the number of animals, manure is not available. Farmers should sow 20 kg of shirvali seeds per acre for this purpose and after its growth, plough it. Organic fertilizer can also be obtained from it. At the same time, farmers should conduct soil tests before sowing so that they will know what the soil needs. He appealed that fertilizer can be provided accordingly.

Third Session:

Topic: Animal Husbandry Management

Hon. Dr. Dhanraj Chaudhary (Scientist, Krishi Vigyan Kendra, Dhule)

In the third session of the workshop, Dr. Dhanraj Chaudhary guided the participants on the topic of animal husbandry. He said that we should maintain the feeling that we are not the owners of the earth but the caretakers. There is a very close relationship between agriculture and animal husbandry. From animals we not only get dairy products but also fertilizers for agriculture. Organic fertilizer is needed for the growth of crops. Special care should be taken of animal feed while animal husbandry. Every animal should be fed at least 30 percent green fodder daily, only then the animal produces good milk. Otherwise, the health of the animal deteriorates. Its reproductive capacity decreases. The animal gives us two and a half tons of cow dung and two and a half tons of cow dung every year. He expressed the opinion that it is the duty of the farmers to take care of that animal. Finally, he appealed to the farmers that every farmer should raise at least two animals in his cowshed.

Fourth Session

Topic: Latest Technology Oriented Orchard

Hon. Shri. Rohit Kadu (Scientist, Krishi Vigyan Kendra, Dhule)

In the fourth session of the workshop, Hon. Dr. Rohit Kadu guided the farmers about onion production and storage. He further said that Dhule district is a leader in onion production. Farmers should take special care while planting and harvesting onions. The first spraying of onions should be done between 20 to 25 days after planting. After spraying herbicide, the onions should be weeded so that the air in the soil remains open and the onion roots get air and the onion grows vigorously. The second weeding should be done after 40 to 45 days. Special care should be taken while applying fertilizers in the onion seedling stage. One bag should be used for two acres while using fertilizers. Onions should be stored to get a good price. For this, a paddy field should be constructed. While building the onion paddy field, care should be taken that the air should remain open. At the same time, high quality powder should be used to preserve the onion. Also, the stem does not rot. After taking this care by onion growing farmers, only 5 percent of the onion is likely to spoil.

Concluding session:

In the concluding session, the chairman of the workshop, Dr. Vishnu Gunjal, appealed to the farmers that this workshop will be considered successful only when the farmers use the suggestions and guidance given by the dignitaries in today's workshop. We will not stop here by holding this workshop. If the farmers feel the need, the college is ready to take up the necessary guidance program if they contact the college. At the same time, the Hon. Principal thanked the researchers of the Krishi Vigyan Kendra for their presence for guidance and congratulated the workshop coordinator and workshop committee members for making the program a success.

Dr. Prof. Gopal Nimbalkar concluded the workshop by expressing his gratitude to the dignitaries and farmers present at the workshop.

Total 120 Farmers, Students and guests all present.

Topic:-Constitutional Values:-

Resource Person - Shri.L. Rushal Anand Hina (Teacher and Social Worker, Pune.)

Adv. Monali Chandrasekhar Aparna, Lawyer, District Court, Pune.

Both of them encouraged all the students to take the second session of discussion by taking questions and answers and started the guidance.

What are the thoughts on which the Constitution is made? The teachings of many great saints of the Bhakti tradition are in our Constitution. Chhatrapati Shivaji Maharaj, Mahatma Phule and Rajshri Shahu Maharaj imbibed the values and instilled them in the society. With these values, Gandhiji Pandit Nehru Dr. Babasaheb Ambedkar, Maulana Azad, Bhagat Singh and many other leaders inspired our freedom struggle. Our Indian Constitution is a confluence of the thoughts of saints Shiv-Shahu-Phule Ambedkar.

Our Constitution has united the country! India is made up of more than 4000 communities with differences in tradition, culture, language, caste, religious beliefs, food, etc. Despite such immense diversity, India has remained united and united. The reason for this is the Indian Constitution. No matter what religion, caste, gender, region, language, poor or rich, every Indian has equal rights over India and the Constitution. In this way, the Constitution has included every Indian.

What has the Constitution given us? Many countries that became independent with us have today witnessed instability and dictatorship. However, democracy still prevails in India. India is the first country in the world that has given the right to vote to all the people, including women, since independence, and we have also got the right to stand for election from Gram Panchayat to Lok Sabha because of the Constitution.

What did the Constitution give to our village? The Indian Constitution has given us the right to have a Gram Panchayat and a Gram Sabha with all the powers. Schools were started in the village according to the idea of 'school in the village'. Village hospitals, roads, electricity, drinking water, sewers, animal hospitals, cooperative development societies, cooperative milk dairies, cooperative credit societies, all these have been made possible by the Constitution. Land was taken from landlords and moneylenders. And distributed among the farmers. Farmers were provided with seeds, pesticides, irrigation facilities, electricity at cheap rates, bank loans, along with good guaranteed prices for their crops - the Agricultural Produce Market Committee has emerged from the idea of public welfare in the Constitution.

What has the Constitution given to women? In the past, the Constitution has given respect to women who were imprisoned in the framework of the hearth and the child. It is because of the Constitution that it has become possible for women to get education, go out, and work. That is why today women are holding those responsible positions in various fields. Be it Sarpanch or Judge, Chief Minister or President - women have been able to reach all these positions only because of the Constitution.

What did the Constitution give to the exploited and deprived sections? The Constitution has made provision for reservation to bring SC, ST, NT, OBC and Maratha, who have been victims of exploitation for centuries, on an equal footing with every section of the society. This is why today people from all these sections are living a life of dignity as Sarpanch, Teacher, Doctor, Engineer, Researcher, Industrialist, Government Officer, Police Patil. Today, it is not that all our problems have been solved. But it is certain that only the Indian Constitution guarantees to solve all our problems! The government is committed to the upliftment of the common poor people. This is what the Constitution says. But if the government is acting against this, then the Constitution has entrusted the responsibility of bringing it on the right path to you and us. Preventing the violation of the Constitution, protecting the Constitution is the primary duty and responsibility of every citizen. Protecting the Constitution means protecting your and my right to live. Following the Constitution is true patriotism. The Constitution belongs to everyone. Let us tell everyone this. Let us take the idea of the Constitution to every household. Let's treat everyone with love and affection, let's remove fear and hatred. Let's celebrate the joy of 75 years of the Constitution with our family and friends. The Constitution Awareness Campaign has been started to spread the idea of the Constitution to everyone. We are lovingly challenging you to participate in this. Jai Samvidhan Jai Bharat.

In the last phase of the program, they demonstrated how to do the Constitution Awareness with the students by taking cooperative games, power walks and group-wise activities of students, declaration letters, group songs based on the Constitution. All the teachers and non-teaching staff of the college and a large number of students were present. The workshop was moderated by Prof. Dr. Farida Khan of the college. He also expressed his gratitude.

After that, in the evening, a meeting was held with the workers of Dhule city to create awareness about the Constitution Awareness Campaign. Various eminent social workers of the city were present at this meeting.

In this way, all the teachers and non-teaching staff of the college made efforts to make the workshop a success.
